

Steffan Stringer

AHPPI Annual Meeting

29-Oct-2015

The image shows two tin can phones on a white background. One can is in the foreground, lying on its side with its open end facing the viewer. The other can is in the background, standing upright. A piece of light brown string is stretched between the two cans, forming a loop on the surface. The word "Communication" is written in a large, bold, black serif font across the center of the image, partially overlapping the cans and the string.

Communication

Purpose?

The background image shows a low-angle view of a building's entrance. A large, arched window with multiple panes is at the top, reflecting the sky and some trees. Below the window is a dark, ornate metal frame with intricate scrollwork. The text "The Academy of Health Sciences" is visible on the wall above the entrance. The overall image has a soft, slightly faded appearance, serving as a backdrop for the text.

Annual Meeting

Website

AHPPI

Association for Human Pharmacology in the Pharmaceutical Industry

About AHPPI

Membership

Meetings & Events

Work With Us

Training

Overvolunteering

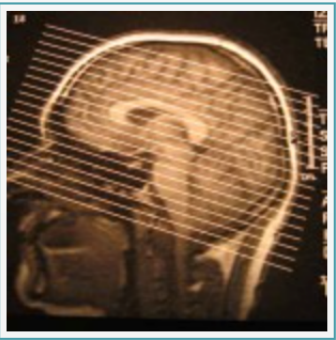

Archive

Cont

on for Human Pharmacology in the Pharmaceutical Industry (AHPPI) was 188. We have 100 members – physicians, nurses, clinical scientists, gers and various types of support staff -who work for organisations, such itical companies and contract research organisations (CRO), involved in elopment of new medicines. Most of the big pharmaceutical companies ie UK are represented among the membership.

of the AHPPI is to provide a forum for continuing education in clinical / – the discipline that underpins early development of new medicines – gulatory aspects of early development of new medicines. We hold symposia with invited speakers, twice ership of the AHPPI is a mere £25 per year and attendance at symposia is normally at a discounted rate for with other organisations involved in developing new medicines, such as ABPI, Institute of Clinical Contract Clinical Research Association. Also, we share some of our symposia with the Clinical Section of armacological Society, an organisation whose members are mostly from university departments of clinical /. The AHPPI is run by a committee and provides information to members via its website rg.uk)

LATEST NEWS

- Risk Management in Early Ph Trials
- Faculty conversation: TQT str the end!
- EUFEMED Joint Conference o Human Pharmacological Soci
- EUFEMED consultation respo Draft proposal for an addend transparency, to the ‘function specifications for the Europea \(EU\) portal and EU database audited’
- EUFEMED – Joint Conference European Human Pharmacolo Societies 2015

NEWS ARCHIVES

Select Month

On the right track?

- other channels?
- your preferences?
- your expectations?
- what don't you like?
- why?

A large, light gray '@' symbol serves as the background for the entire image. Centered horizontally and vertically over this symbol is the email address 'info@ahppi.co.uk' in a bold, black, sans-serif font.

info@ahppi.co.uk